Claims 1-22 are pending in this application.

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claims 10-11, drawn to fungicidal composition and method wherein compound of formula (I) is combined with a triazole derivative such as azaconazole or cyproconazole.

Group II, claims 12-13, drawn to fungicidal composition and method wherein compound of formula (I) is combined with an imidazole derivative such as imazalil or prochloraz.

Group III, claims 14-15, drawn to fungicidal composition and method wherein compound of formula (I) is combined with a morpholine derivative such as aldimorph or dodemorph.

Group IV, claims 16-17, drawn to fungicidal composition and method wherein compound of formula (I) is combined with a piperidine derivative such as fenpropidin or piperalin.

Group V, claims 18, drawn to fungicidal composition and method wherein compound of formula (I) is combined with fenhexamid (an anilide).

Group VI, claims 18, drawn to fungicidal composition and method wherein compound of formula (I) is combined with spiroxamine (1,4-dioxaspiro[4.5]decane structured).

Group VII, claims 18, drawn to fungicidal composition and method wherein compound of formula (I) is combined with triforine (piperazine-structured diamide).

The inventions listed as Groups I to VII do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons.

Under lack of unity rules, unity of invention exists only when there is a technical relationship among the claimed inventions involving one or more of the same or corresponding special technical features. The expression “special technical features” is defined as meaning those technical features that define a contribution which each of the inventions, considered as a whole, makes over the prior art. The “contribution over the prior art” is considered with respect to novelty and inventive step. Further, under Markush practice, all alternatives must have a common property AND (i) common structure must be present in all alternatives or (ii) all alternatives must belong to a recognized class of chemical compounds. See PCT Rule 13.1 and 13.2; see also MPEP 1850.

Here, the compounds of formula (I) is the only feature that is common to all the inventions, but these compounds are already known fungicides, as acknowledged by applicant on specification page 1, line 10 to page 2, line 5. Since these are known fungicides, the corresponding technical feature for all the inventions fails to make a contribution over the prior art. Thus, there is no single general inventive concept which qualifies as “special technical feature” that links the inventions under PCT Rule 13.1 and 13.2, as required.

Additionally, there would be a serious search and examination burden if lack of unity were not required because one or more of the following reasons apply:

- (a) the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art in view of their different classification;

- (b) the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art due to their recognized divergent subject matter;
- (c) the inventions require a different field of search (for example, searching different classes/subclasses or electronic resources, or employing different search queries);
- (d) the prior art applicable to one invention would not likely be applicable to another invention;
- (e) the inventions are likely to raise different non-prior art issues under 35 U.S.C. 101 and/or 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected invention.

If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable upon the elected invention.
